March, the first of the months of Spring, is named for Mars, the Roman

March. March. March. March. March. March. Spring, is named for Mars, the Roman war-god and patren delty. Its ancient Dutch name meant the lengthening month, because during its course the days lengthened; its Suxon title was interpreted, boisterous as well as lengthening month; and in the French calendar March became the ventoso or the windy month. From time immemorial March weather has been associated with the idea of the Lion and the Lamb, with a leaning toward the Lion and a skurrying by of "mad March hares." Oliver Herford humorously seizes upon the triple tradition in a drawing which shows Time as a conjuer, holding the hat of Mr. World, who occupies a front seat in Time's audicated, and has obligingly loaned the, hat. The verse accompanying the drawing says:

"Your hat's not empty yet, it's clear!"
Cried Time; "Just look at that, sir—
A mad March hare, as mad, I fear,
As he who made your hat, sir—
And still they come! Beheld how great
A conjurer I am, sir!
Pray take your choice, don't hesitate,
A lion or a lamb, sir?"

Next Saturday is the anniversary of President James Madison, who was born March 5, 1751. Next Monday, March 7th, recalls the date of Webster's famous speech made in the year 1850. The battle of Guilford, fought during the war of the Revolution, took place March 15, 1781. The festival of Saint Patrick, with the "wearing of the green," will be kept March 17th. In the year 1832 Goethe, the great German litterateur and poet, died on March 22d. Palm Sunday, March 27th, will precede Passion Week in Lent.

Lenten Observance.

Lenten Observance.

The second week of Lent has gone by and has ended stormly. Society has been very deccrous in its Lenten observance, and has seemed quite content with its pursuance in the path of Lenten duty. Sewing classes, reading classes and lectures absorb the attention of young girls, who have a fashion of meeting at the house of some one among their number once or twice a week for work and an exchange of girlish confidences.

From the Southern coast and winter resorts—Aiken, South Carolina; Sand Itilis and Brunswick, Georgia, and Palm Beach, Florida—come ecnoes of gay out-of-door life, led there by the many who strive to cheat winter of its storm and the penitential season of its tedium by their annual migration to a brighter climate and sunnier surroundings.

Many tourists have, of late, gone across the continent to find a paradise of flowers and soft airs in Southern California, preferring the Pacific to the Atlantic coast. Others are sojourning at Nice in the South of France. Some—and among these Miss Mary Johnston, the authoress, and Miss Maria Blair—are watching the blue waves of the Mediterranean bathe Sicilian coasts and letting the days go by in an enchanted region ranean bathe Sicilian coasts and letting the days go by in an enchanted region of romance and poetry.

Miss McBain in New York.

Miss McBain in New York.

The following deserved compilment to Miss McBain comes from New York:

"Miss Mabel Wards McBain, whose beautiful contralto Voice it so much admired in Richmond. Is spending the winter here, where she is studying under Oscar Saenger. The New York teachers and musicians for whom Miss McBain has sung have been much impressed with the rich fullness and purity of her voice and are highly compilmentary in their predictions for her future. She has been particularly fortunate in the selection of Mr. Saenger, who is a teacher of oratorio and operatic singers of national reputation, his success with contralto voices having been especially marked.

Miss McBain is leading contraito both at All Saints' Church and Beth Ahaba Synagogue, where the universal popularity of her voice is due to its beautiful quality, as well as to the high order of her work as a singer."

daughter of the late John Bowers, of this city.

A quiet but elegant wedding was solemnized at the residence of Dr. Wm. B. Logan yesterday afternoon when Miss Lotte McMichael Bowers, of Richmond, Va., became the bride of Mr. George Francis Willis, of Atlanta. Ga.

The lower floor of the beautiful home was decorated in white and green potted plants and cut flowers, and the improvised aftar was ablaze with candles.

Promptly at five o'clock, to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, pfayed by Mrs. Bery, of Science Hill, and Mr.

of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. Bery, of Science Hill, and Mr. Mathias Oliver, of Louisville, the bridal party entered the parlor.

Miss Willie Willis, the little sister of the groom, and Master John Logan leading the way, they were followed by Miss Ida Bowers, sister of the bride, who was maid of honor. Then came the beautiful bride with her brother-in-law, Dr. William B. Logan. They were met at, the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. William Hamilton Moore, of Atlanta, Ga. The exerminy was performed by the Rev. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. David M. Sweets, of the Southern Presbyterian church. . The bride wore a Parisian robe of white applique and crepe liniet on white tarfeta and chiffon. She were the regula-tion tulle vell secured by a diamond sun-burst, a gift of the groom, and carried "Our Marriage Vow" bound in white kid. The maid of honer were a hand-ombroid-ered gown of white crops de chine and carried a round bouquet of Bride roses. Little Miss Willis were a dainty dress of white Paris muslin and Master John Lo-gan a sallor suit of white velvet. The presents displayed in one of the lower rooms were beautiful, among which were a chest of silver and a silver ser-vice.

The happy pair left over the C. & O. on an eastern trip. After March the first they will make their home in Atlanta, they will make their home in Atlanta, Ga.

The guests from a distance were Mrs. Erma Willis and daughter, of Waynes-ville, N. C., and Mrs. J. Ashby Hinor, of Louisville.

The bride is a beautiful young woman and a member of one of Virginia's oldest and most prominent families. Since coming to Kentucky to make her home with her sister, Mrs. William B. Logan, sine has made many friends.

Mr. Willis was formerly division manager of the Thacker Medicine Company and now represents one of the largest manufacturing concerns in the South. He is a courteous gentleman and in every way worthy of the fair bride he has won.

Club.

The assembly room of the club was taxed to its utmost capacity on Thursday afternoon to accommodate the large number of lades who gathered to derive profit and entertainment from Miss Cabaniss's lecture. The subject was treated in general terms, touching upon the fundamental laws of hygiene and sanitation. Miss Cabaniss won the mothers' sympathy in her prefacing remarks by stating that her knowledge of the child was two-fold—as teacher and nurse. The lecture was invaluable in revealing the importance of attention to trivial aliments, securing by its thoughtful and highly practical treatment the undivided interest of the audience. At the close a rising vote of thanks was tendered Miss Cabaniss for her generous contribution of time and talents to the club. Miss Cabaniss will in future lectures treat her subjects more specifically, and the members of the club are congratulating themselves upon gaining her approval of their work and her aid in establishing its success.

HERPÍCIDE WILL SAVE IT. HERPÍCIDE WILL SAVE IT 'TOO LATE FOR HERPICIDE Newbro's Herpicide

THE ORIGINAL REMEDY THAT "KILLS THE DANDRUFF GERM."

SOME MEN DON'T CARE. Some men are so indifferent to hair loss that they pay no attention whatever to dandruff and itching scalp. But, later, when incurable baldness comes they will waste time and money in a vain endeavor to overcome the result of their own neglect.

GOING!

THERE WAS A TIME. There was a time when it was considered quite proper to ridicule and make light of the germ theory, but it isn't good taste to do it now, when municipal governments are sending for scientific men to suppress germ contagion. Prof. Unns (ask your doctor about him) was the first to discover the dandruff microbe and now dermatologists the world over know that true dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a germ.

THE GUINEA-PIG PROVED IT. Drs. Lassar and Bishop. THE GUINEA-PIE PROVEDIT, Drs. Lassar and Bishop, both noted scientists, took dandruff scales from the head of a student who was losing his hair and having made a pomade of them with vascline, rubbed the same upon a guinea-pig and the pig became bald. (See George Thomas Jackson, M. D., on Diseases of Skin, 4th Edition.) Newbro's Herpleide should be used at the first suggestion of dandruff or itching scalp. It prevents scalp infection, robs the public hair brush of its power to do harm, and never falls to cure dandruff and stop falling hair.

THE LATIES' KNOW. The ladies are quick to discover any diseased condition of the hair, for with them, the natural impulse of preservation applies particularly to Nature's Charming Adornment. When the hair becomes dull, brittle or lusterless it slows that the dandruff microbe has planted itself in the scalp and is sapping the hairs' vitality. In time it will cause dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. This condition calls for the immediate use of Newbro's Herpielde. The wonderful effect of the very first application shows that it will "destroy the cause" after which the hair will grow as nature intended.

DISEASED HAIR EFFECTS FACIAL EXPRES-

Sion. The face is a mirror of the mind and many we men lose their youthful appearance by brooding over some physical misfortune that might be remedied. Last some physical mistoriume that might be remedied. Lasting beauty comes from the consciousness that both hair and skin are perfectly healthy, as nature gave them, and this form of beauty shows through even the most irregular features. A woman may be perfect in form and her complexion may rival the color of the rose, but if it is her mistoriume to have scant or lifeless hair, that mistoriume will continually wound her pride and be reflected in her face. To such women Herpicide is a positive delight. It gives confidence by quickly producing the "correct effect." Makes the hair light, fluify and gives it an indescribable charm. A single trial will convince. Contains no oil or grease, will not stain or dye.

"I have never used anything that gave such speedy results as your wonderful discovery, Herpicide. It soothes the scalp, stops the Riching and drives away the dandruff, I most cheerfully and heartly recommend it to the general public as a safe and harmless remedy for the contagious disease dandruff, the parent of Baldness."
